April 2022

Dear Parents,

Breakup season is happening, and the puddles are showing up everywhere! Cold mornings and warm afternoons have arrived. Please make sure your child has the appropriate outside gear to address the changing season!

Breakfast Calendar

Children's World has reinstated the community snack calendar. At this time, we will just be requiring food items for the early morning breakfast. If you are enrolled in a Full Time schedule OR partake in breakfast time (due to approved extended hours) then you will need to choose one day each month to bring in food items for your child's class. Please make sure you have picked which day and if you have any questions, be sure to check in with your child's teacher.

Policy Update

The travel mandate has ended, and families are no longer required to quarantine from domestic or international travel. We thank all our families for their cooperation during the ongoing evaluation of our Covid policies. Moving forward, Covid policies will now be placed within our standard Parent Handbook, meaning that a 'mitigation policy' will no longer be used and it will become standard practice. We will inform all the parents on the finalized version once it is completed.

Parent Conferences

Parent conferences can be a wonderful time for teachers, parents, and administration to come together as a team. These meetings can be used as an opportunity to check in with your child's teacher, address concerns within the classroom, and develop a support plan for your family.

Conferences require at the Head Teacher to be present and pulling teachers out of classrooms during the day is struggle. Head teachers are essential to keeping the engagement and productivity within a classroom at optimal levels. Therefore, parent conferences are scheduled between 1:00 pm and 3:00 pm, while the children are napping. Nap time allows the removal of the Head Teacher with minimal disruption to the classroom environment.

Scheduling parent conferences outside this time is not optimal and therefore, will be done as a very last resort. We understand that short notice and being in the middle of the day can be difficult for families, but we take the education and well-being of our students seriously, and a request for a conference must be met with the same level of respect. We expect families to be cooperative and accommodate the designated times that are reserved for parent conferences.

Please reach out if there are any concerns and questions.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Children's World Bilingual Montessori
